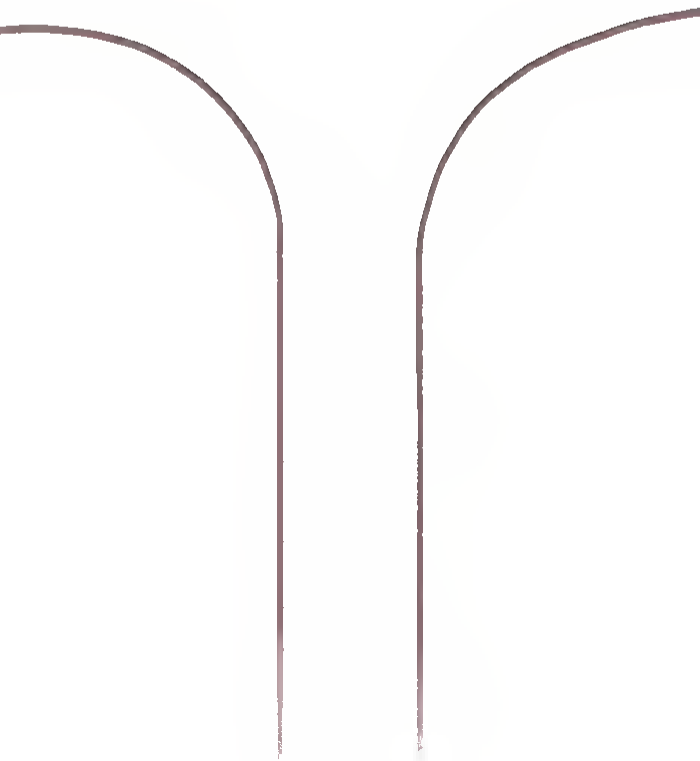
…Foxy?

ROAR STREET JOURNAL

Parallel Paths



As Foxy leaves, Foxiara returns from work.

Foxiara went to look for Foxy at the weekend.

She looked on the streets.

"I will try again next week,"

Foxiara told herself.

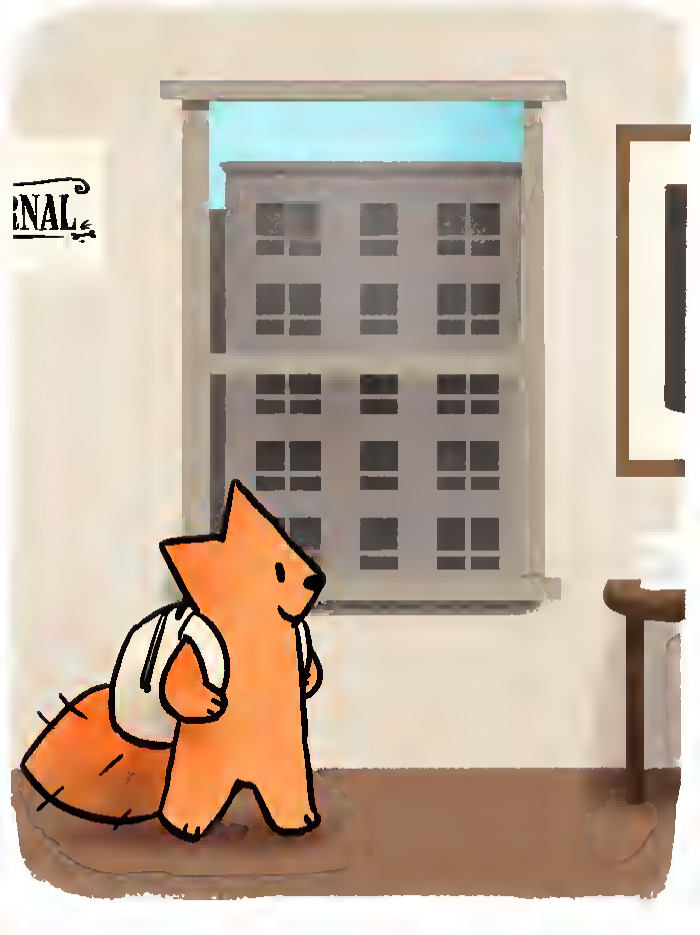
She looked in shopping malls.

As she leaves, Foxy arrives at work.



Their lives are like parallel paths,

running close but never crossing each other.

They don't know that they are only one street apart.

Maybe one day,

the two parallel paths will cross.

Every morning, she looks out of the window before going to teach at a primary school.

She looked in cafes.

Foxiara rented a room in a building opposite to

Roar Street Journal.

Excuse me, have you seen a little brown fox with a fluffy tail?
Yeah, he left just before you came in.
